Outlets at San Clemente

A Beautiful Way to Save
Browsing will meet ocean breezes as Outlets at San Clemente opens to the public and invites Southern Californians to the November 12-15, 2015 grand opening weekend of the outlet shopping and lifestyle center developed by Craig Realty Group. Outlets at San Clemente will become the only ocean-facing outdoor outlet shopping and dining destination in Orange County.

Craig Realty Group properties are known for five-star customer service, beautifully manicured settings, and thoughtful attention to detail. Outlets at San Clemente will offer a range of resort-like services and amenities, such as a VIP loyalty program with an exclusive lounge, valet parking, comfortable restrooms designed for shoppers’ ease, as well as complimentary Wi-Fi, baggage check and stroller or wheelchair rentals.

Giving Orange County and northern San Diego County shoppers a relaxing community hub to gather, shop, dine and enjoy, the lifestyle center with ocean views will be an inviting environment evoking the spirit of a Spanish village — yet offering the most modern amenities to attract sophisticated shoppers and fun-seekers.

The classic Spanish architecture with graceful archways, decorative turrets and romantic balconies showcases a property more indicative of a resort than a shopping center. Consumers will be able to shop among storefronts designed to tell an unfolding story, as no two building faces are the same and details are seldom repeated throughout the center.

Upon completion of Phase I, Outlets at San Clemente will showcase nearly 70 retailers. The grand opening will feature more than 35 retail stores — such as Bass Factory Outlet, Calvin Klein, Chico’s Outlet, Cole Haan, Columbia Sportswear Company, Converse, GUESS Factory Store, H&M, Levi’s Outlet Store, Nike Factory Store, The PUMA Outlet Store, Tilly’s, Tommy Hilfiger, Under Armour, Vans, and White House Black Market. To fuel up while shopping, visitors can enjoy favorite fast-casual eateries, including Panera Bread, Ruby’s Diner (opening Spring 2016) and Starbucks.

The final development plan includes more than a dozen dining options, including four restaurants with scenic ocean views overlooking the Marblehead Coastal development. Additional stores and restaurants will open throughout 2016. Craig Realty Group envisioned the opportunity to bring consumers a shopping, dining and entertainment lifestyle center on the ocean more than 18 years ago. Outlets at San Clemente will be this and more, including helping to bolster the economic development of Orange County and the City of San Clemente by increasing tax revenue, attracting visitors and creating job growth. It is estimated that development of the property will create 1,500 full-time, part-time and seasonal jobs among tenants and center employees when fully completed.

Four days of grand opening festivities will commence on Thursday, November 12 with a ribbon cutting ceremony followed by family-friendly entertainment throughout the series of outdoor courtyards and promenades.

On Saturday, November 14, Outlets at San Clemente will hold its inaugural Tree Lighting Concert, to feature American Authors, best known for their Top 40 song “Best Day of My Life;” American Idol Winner Nick Fradiani; and local singer John Lindahl. Hosted by Valentine of 104.3 MY FM’s morning show, the free concert in Center Court is open to the public and includes the lighting of the center’s fresh-cut live Christmas tree from Mt. Shasta decorated with 3,000 twinkling lights and holiday decor.
Palm trees, vibrant pavers and unique storefronts line shoppers’ path at Outlets at San Clemente – grand opening on November 12, 2015.

Opening just in time for holiday shopping and bringing deep discounted pre-Black Friday deals, Outlets at San Clemente will kick off the holiday shopping season by hosting its inaugural Moonlight Madness all-night event on Thanksgiving night. Outlets at San Clemente retailers will open doors at 8 p.m. on Thanksgiving, November 26, and shops will remain open all night and throughout Black Friday on November 27 until 10 p.m.

Door-buster offers and holiday savings will continue throughout the weekend, offering a new holiday tradition for friends and families. Additional opportunities for holiday shopping will be available when Outlets at San Clemente hosts its first annual Shopping Extravaganza fundraiser on Saturday, December 5, to benefit 18 local charities. Shopping Extravaganza features a private catered lunch, wine and craft beer tastings, entertainment and up to $50,000 in prizes.

Participating Shopping Extravaganza organizations include: Costa Mesa-based Girls Incorporated of Orange County; Dana Point-based Dana Point Symphony; Duarte-based City of Hope; Irvine-based JDRF and Tilly’s Life Center; Laguna Beach-based Pacific Marine Mammal Center; Laguna Hills-based Western Youth Services; San Clemente-based organizations Boys & Girls Club of South Coast Area, Family Assistance Ministries, Kids Around the World, and Sunrise Rotary Club; San Juan Capistrano-based Assistance League of Capistrano Valley and Mission San Juan Capistrano; Santa Ana-based Big Brothers Big Sisters of Orange County; Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Orange County, Goodwill of Orange County, and the Wellness and Prevention Foundation; and Tustin-based ALS Association Orange County Chapter. Outlets at San Clemente will donate $25 for every $35 ticket purchased and tickets are on sale now at shoposc.com/tickets.

Boasting 30 to 70 percent off suggested retail pricing, Outlets at San Clemente will offer high-caliber merchandise for shoppers seeking value and a superior experience.

“We are thrilled to open the first and only ocean-facing outdoor outlet shopping and dining destination in Orange County,” said Steven L. Craig, managing partner, Craig Realty Group. “For us, it’s all about location and design. Outlets at San Clemente has an unparalleled coastal location with easy accessibility and freeway access, complemented by incredibly unique architecture that will transport consumers to the atmosphere of an Andalusian village. Our goal is to redefine what consumers have come to think of outlet shopping.”

Private Developer Creates New Category of ‘Luxury Outlet’ Shopping with Powerhouse Of Southern California Properties

Based in Newport Beach, Calif., Craig Realty Group has entered the outlet shopping arena and emerged as the dominant outlet center developer in Southern California.

The mid-sized private company, founded in 1995 and led by President and CEO Steven L. Craig since its inception, has earned a reputation for cultivating properties that redefine what shoppers expect from a retail outlet experience. From five-star customer service to beautifully manicured settings and a range of resort-like services and amenities, Craig Realty Group sets the industry standard for what’s been termed ‘luxury outlet’ shopping.

Recently, Craig Realty Group expanded its local portfolio—which includes L.A.’s Citadel Outlets, Cabazon Outlets located just outside of Palm Springs and the lavish, ocean-facing Outlets at San Clemente, Grand Opening on Nov. 12 – with the purchase of Outlets at Barstow, located halfway between Los Angeles and Las Vegas on the I-15. The acquisition brought new opportunity to the ambitious company and solidified Craig Realty Group’s long-standing leadership position as the Southern California retail outlet powerhouse.

Citadel Outlets

Truly a retail destination in every sense, Citadel Outlets provides a luxury outlet shopping experience that is so L.A. Located just minutes from downtown Los Angeles off the I-5, the 700,000 square foot center attracts millions of visitors each year from all over Los Angeles, Southern California and the world. Each holiday season, Citadel Outlets lights up the L.A. skyline with record-breaking décor including the World’s Tallest Live-Cut Tree and World’s Largest Bow. Citadel Outlets was purchased by Craig Realty Group in 2003, followed by a $52 million dollar renovation and extensive property expansion. With over 130 world class stores, stunning historical Assyrian architecture and Craig Realty Group’s top-tier amenities and VIP services, the company’s flagship property is one of the world’s top outlet shopping centers.

Outlets at Barstow

Craig Realty Group’s purchase of the historic Barstow property brought the center under local ownership and management for the first time ever – a management that understands the demands of the regional, domestic and international retail consumer. Built in 1994, Outlets at Barstow was one of the first outlet centers ever developed and has grown into one of the industry’s most high-performing and lucrative centers. Expanded in 2007, the property is situated on 36 acres and is comprised of 171,000 square feet of retail space. Outlets at Barstow is currently at maximum occupancy and abuts approximately 8 acres of malleable real estate for future expansion.

Outlets at San Clemente

Outlets at San Clemente is the first and only ocean-facing outdoor outlet shopping and dining destination in Orange County. Created to provide ‘A Beautiful Way To Shop’, the center is an unexpected experience alongside the Pacific Ocean; a place where the serene, ocean-side community can come together to shop, dine and enjoy. With breathtaking views, smooth, bold Spanish-style architecture and state-of-the-art amenities, this new shopping destination will drive tourism, generate economic gains and usher in a new era of progress.

Cabazon Outlets

Conveniently located between Palm Springs and Los Angeles, Cabazon Outlets offers a unique desert landscape shopping experience. This intimate 65,000 square foot center is nestled between the San Rosa and San Gorgonio Mountain Range in a community that attracts over 15 million annual visitors.

Beyond Southern California...

Craig Realty Group has been pivotal in pioneering the changing landscape of retail outlet shopping not just in Southern California but in burgeoning markets across the country. As the industry’s largest private developer, Craig Realty Group owns, operates and manages nearly 5.2 million square feet of existing retail development in 7 states. Other centers include Outlets at Anthem in Phoenix, Arizona; Outlets at Conroe located near Houston, Texas; Outlets at Castle Rock located south of Denver, Colorado; Outlets at the Dells, Baraboo, Wisconsin; Outlets at Hillsboro, Hillsboro, Texas; Outlets at Loveland located north of Denver, Colorado; Outlets at Silverthorne located west of Denver, Colorado; Outlets at Traverse Mountain in Lehi, Utah; Outlets at Vicksburg in Vicksburg, Mississippi; and East Hills Mall in St. Joseph, Missouri.

Projects in development include Chicagoland Outlets at Country Club Hills, Illinois; Outlets at Kapolei Commons, Oahu, Hawaii; Outlets at Richmond, Virginia; Outlets at Cleveland, Ohio and Outlets at Lacey, Washington.

mTrust Surety is proud to have participated in the development of the Outlets at San Clemente by providing nearly $18 million of subdivision bonds.

Subdivision bonds ensure that improvements, which are required to support development activity, are completed within the time frame agreed upon by the developer and municipality with jurisdiction over the property. Typical improvements include sidewalks, water, sewer and storm drains. In most cases, upon completion, these improvements are dedicated to the municipality. On occasion, subdivision bonds are required to guarantee completion of other items like a bridge, which was among the improvements guaranteed on behalf of Craig Realty Group in the development of the Outlets at San Clemente.

With over 35 years of surety bond experience, AmTrust Surety provides a comprehensive line up of surety bond products. We have long played an integral role in providing support to developers, home builders, contractors, business entities, and individuals throughout California and all across the country. Our clients range in size from the largest national home builders to local, privately held construction and development operations.

AmTrust Surety is based in Southern California and has branch offices throughout the nation, including locations in Brea and San Diego. We are licensed in all 50 states, Washington D.C. and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

AmTrust Surety is pleased to have enjoyed a long-term relationship as the subdivision bond provider of choice for Steve Craig and the Craig Realty Group. We greatly value our decade-long partnership, and we wish Steve and his group continued success.

Shopping for a builder?

Layton delivers at Outlets at San Clemente.
Montage Deer Valley, Deer Valley, Utah, Built by Layton Construction, 2010

Building Lasting Structures and Lasting Relationships

Outlets at San Clemente is positioned to be the ultimate shopping experience in the Orange County area. Craig Realty Group operates some of the top outlet malls in the region including Citadel Outlets, Cabazon Outlets and recently purchased Outlets at Barstow, and outlet malls in nine other locations in the country with another half-dozen developments in the planning stages.

“Outlets at San Clemente is really the culmination of all the experiences this company has had over the last 30 years. Each project, we try to make them better, but an extraordinary effort has gone into this one,” explains Steven L. Craig, managing partner of Craig Realty Group.

Layton Construction was well positioned geographically and with the experience necessary when Craig Realty Group went shopping for a builder in Utah several years ago. Layton Construction was selected to build Craig Realty Group’s Outlets at Traverse Mountain in Lehi, Utah in 2011.

The Utah outlet mall is at the epicenter of Utah’s burgeoning economy, as Utah boasts one of the fastest growing economies in the nation, and within view of the outlet mall is the impressive Adobe campus, as well as over a million square feet in new Class-A office buildings—either built in the past five years or still under construction—to house the influx of other high tech companies. New housing developments dot the landscape. A new trauma center hospital, also recently completed by Layton Construction, provides yet another quality of life amenity in this fast-growing area. Craig Realty Group saw the potential, capitalized on the open site a number of years ago, and their outlet mall now stands ready to reap the benefits of their forward thinking and planning.

Layton Construction moved 600,000 cubic yards of earth on the steep-sloped 50-acre site to create a level pad to accommodate the 225,000 square foot center. The build-out was completed with nearly the same speed and frenzy that shoppers empty the shelves of a Craig Realty Group outlet store on Black Friday. In just 12 months, the undeveloped site was transformed to a finished outlet mall, open for business to meet the holiday season shoppers of 2012. Forty-one stores, including Banana Republic, Coach, Michael Kors and Nike opened their doors. A second phase has since been completed, adding stores like H&M.

Outlets at Traverse Mountain reflect Craig Realty Group’s commitment to quality. Craig said, “Clearly the design and execution of the center came out very strong. Every person who sees it is pretty amazed at the quality of the finish.” Attention to details include a 12,000-square-foot spacious customer lobby with a 50-foot-tall fireplace, upscale restrooms, a walkable site that accommodates persons in wheelchairs or parents with strollers—there is not a single stair in the development to navigate. Glass atrium canopies protect shoppers from Utah winter snow and hot summer sun.

Local Presence
Layton Construction is not a newcomer to Orange County. For the past decade, Layton has been doing business in Southern California. Craig Realty Group invited Layton Construction back to build Outlets at San Clemente, adding again to Layton Construction’s presence in Southern California.

Over 40 projects have been completed by Layton in California in recent years, including retail, hospitality, mixed-use retail and housing, corrections, corporate offices and distribution centers. Loma Linda University Medical Center in Murrieta, Kaiser Permanente Medical Office Building in Temecula, and numerous hospital renovations headline Layton’s healthcare work.

Layton Construction’s Irvine office is command central for projects constructed in the Southern California region. Led by Executive Vice President John Thornton, Layton Construction’s Southern California team is building on existing relationships in the area and upon the experience of its team members to enter new markets and find new opportunities. John Thornton said, “Layton Construction has a rich history of construction in the western United States over six decades. With each new project we acquire and successfully complete in the Southern California market, we further our reach and deepen our relationships with customers, which is vital to our continued success in the commercial construction industry.”

National Reach
With nine offices located throughout the continental United States and Hawaii, Layton Construction is recognized by Engineering News Record (ENR) magazine as the 76th largest commercial contractor in the nation on the publication’s Top 400 Contractors list published annually. Layton Construction’s 2015 revenues will tally over $1 billion.

Customers nationwide appreciate Layton Construction’s innovation, integrity and predictable outcomes, inviting Layton to build for them in many places around the country. Layton has constructed in 38 states.

The Layton Legacy
Sixty-three years ago, Alan W. Layton, a World War II veteran, Purple Heart recipient, and survivor of the Battle of the Bulge, left employment with the Bureau of Reclamation to start his own construction company. From those humble beginnings, the company has grown to be a national leader.

Layton Construction has built stadiums, airports, museums, hospitals, office buildings, resorts, facilities for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games held in Salt Lake City, convention centers, prisons and about anything else you can imagine.

But more important than building buildings, Layton Construction prides itself on its commitment to excellence, building trust, and establishing relationships with its customers that last long past the construction of a building.

Sheer growth of the company is not critical to Layton Construction management. Most important are the relationships built and maintained with customers, employees and subcontractors—an ideology that founder Alan W. Layton strived to establish and cultivate within his company. Following in his father's footsteps, company president and CEO David S. Layton said, “Those relationships help the Layton organization learn and grow in an industry where the rules of finding and developing opportunities keep changing. We will continue to build on the strong foundation of our past. Our best years are ahead of us—I inherited my dad’s positivity. I think he would be proud of his company today and how we’ve moved it forward.”

Concrete and Masonry Contractor Services Since 1977
Visitors to the new Outlets at San Clemente will enjoy the convenience of leaving their vehicles in an attractive new parking structure built by Orange County-based Bomel Construction.

More than 1,100 Stalls
The new two-level garage will please shoppers who want to keep their vehicles in the shade during the many sunny days in scenic San Clemente. The 1,167-stall garage is not only convenient, but sports an extraordinary design.

“In terms of the finishes and the overall look, it is by far the most elaborate garage that I’ve been a part of,” said Bomel Project Manager Matt Prince. “It’s quite decorative,” he added.

“There are many materials that we do not see on garages, with distinctive geometry on many of the columns and walls.”

High-end features and finishes include five entry towers with clay tile roofs; copper gutters and downspouts; pre-cast concrete balustrades, pre-cast stair treads and pre-cast planters. Foam shapes were integrated into the plaster system across most elevations. The entire exterior is coated in plaster with an undulating Spanish Colonial-style finish. And different concrete-formed archways, 62 in all, are part of each of the garage’s exposed elevations.

“We have been very pleased with their work,” said Steven Craig, president and CEO of Craig Realty Group, owner of the Outlets at San Clemente.

Distinct Design
The garage’s distinct design and unusual formwork commanded the rapt attention of Bomel’s construction crews.

“When this project started last year, I thought all the architectural walls and arches would be very difficult to form and pour in a production-oriented capacity. But our concrete and formwork crews did a phenomenal job,” said Prince, referring to Tim Perdew, project superintendent; Mike Alexander, general formwork superintendent; and Andre Walters, deck formwork superintendent.

“Considering the speed and pace of the schedule, these men played an integral part in getting a challenging project completed quickly and accurately,” Prince beamed.

The Outlets at San Clemente is the second project completed by Bomel Construction for Craig Realty Group. Two years ago, Bomel built a five-level, 500-stall garage at Craig Realty’s Citadel Outlets near the City of Commerce. Bomel is nearing completion of a third Craig Realty project, a nine-level, 1,000-stall garage, also at Citadel Outlets.

“We’ve continued to grow the relationship,” Craig said.

After nearly 40 years of planning and great anticipation, Sea Summit at Marblehead, the new-home community on the coastal bluffs of San Clemente, California, officially opened on November 7 and 8, 2015. The 248-acre property – including 116 acres of protected mesa and canyon habitat – is one of the last remaining opportunities of its size for new coastal residences in Southern California.

“It is no exaggeration to say that opening of Sea Summit at Marblehead is an historic moment,” said Taylor Morrison Division President Phil Bodem. “Its inspiring homes, trails and nature preserve reflect decades of careful planning – one of the longest development periods for a coastal project in California. At long last, we are proud to unveil Sea Summit’s rich, coastal environment and views, and to create a new habitat for life well-lived at the edge of the sea.”

Sea Summit offers 309 luxury, single-family residences. The grand opening was the first opportunity to experience 12 new model homes of Sea Summit’s four unique neighborhoods: Aqua, Sapphire, Azure and Indigo. The new homes are interwoven with the adjacent native preserve, sandstone bluffs, ravines and trails, with prices ranging from the low $1 millions to the mid $2 millions.

The two-day public grand opening included gourmet food trucks, live music, strolling magician and stilt performers, caricature artist and interactive photo booth.

Sea Summit’s network of five community parks (totalling 12 acres) integrate with approximately four miles of new trails along the plateau facing the Pacific Ocean and descend to PCH and San Clemente Beach. The nature preserve and trails have been open since April 2015. The nature preserve – 116 acres of protected mesa and canyon habitat – is managed by the Center for Natural Lands Management, which is granted an easement over the property. Sea Summit at Marblehead’s “preservation development” approach enhances its pristine oceanfront habitat while providing a resort-like experience for residents.

Sea Summit’s trails were constructed by Taylor Morrison Home Corporation and are maintained by the city of San Clemente.

Sea Summit recently revealed plans for its resort-inspired clubhouse. The Summit Club – a Spanish Colonial-style community center designed by Robert Hidey Architects will be the social heart of Sea Summit overlooking the ocean.
